TRADE STAND RULES & REGULATIONS

1. SAFETY REQUIREMENTS

Stallholders must comply with the requirements of the Health & Safety at Work etc. Act 1974 and all relevant EU Directives and any applicable regulations made under current Health and Safety Legislation. Special attention is directed to the safety requirements outlined in these regulations. The ruling of Stewards or Officials of the Society on the Safety of any exhibit or part of an exhibit shall be immediate and final; but consent to the working of an exhibit shall not relieve any exhibitor of liability as laid down in the regulations. The Society holds exhibitors wholly responsible for the observance of statutory regulations governing the safety of machinery or equipment exhibited by them. Trade stands displaying substances classified as hazardous (pesticides, etc.) are to display only new empty containers.

2. THE REGULATORY REFORM FIRE SAFETY ORDER 2005

You should be aware that the above legislation will apply to you if you are the 'responsible person' having control of the premises (including any tent or movable structure. A fire risk assessment has to be carried out and significant findings recorded. The method/s of controlling the significant findings of the fire risk assessment must be identified. North Wales Fire & Rescue Service on inspecting the showground could ask you to produce these 'significant findings'. Information on how to conduct a fire risk assessment can be accessed at www.firesafetyguides.communities.gov.uk

3. ALLOCATION OF ELECTRICITY

All current electrical outlets on site conform to current I.E.E. regulations and are protected by a RCCD or RCBO in accordance with EEC Regulations for Electrical Installations.

In the interest of Safety, ALL Trade Stand exhibitors who either receive connections from the Society OR use their own means of power MUST comply with current I.E.E. Regulations and the "Electricity at Work" Regulations 1989 or any other subsequent legislation. Exhibitors requesting electricity MUST provide the correct weatherproof cable and plugs to be compatible with the Society's sockets and fittings and must comply with the above Regulations. Exhibitors using their own portable electrical generators must be aware of the need to provide weatherproof cable and that the exterior connection between cable and generators MUST be of weatherproof type (i.e. BS4343 EN60309).

The Society insists that all portable Generators are Diesel operated. All Generators brought to the Show will be checked by the Society's Health & Safety Adviser and any found not to comply, will be removed from the Showground.

All cable extensions and connecting couplings / plugs etc. must carry a P.A.T. Test Certificate (Portable Appliance Test) dates on these must be valid for the duration of the Show and must carry the signature of the person/organisation who carried out the testing. All electrical appliances on trade stands will be checked by the Society's Health and Safety Advisor prior to the official Show opening, and any portable electrical equipment as described above that is not in compliance with the P.A.T. Testing requirements will be isolated, stand closed, and the vendor instructed to either take the necessary steps to comply, or failing this, removed from the Showground.

Electrical extension cable reels that not fully extended off the reel can cause a fire risk. Trade stands must therefore use extension reels which are the correct length for the purpose they are being used.
